VOL. III. BELLEFONTE, PENN'A., WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 14, 1871. NO. 24.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

R. B. BARGER,....Proprietor.

W. W. BROWN,.....Editor.

Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, June 14, 1871.

THE ticket nominated by the Ohio Democratic Convention two weeks ago is as follows:

For Governor, General George W. McCook; Lieutenant Governor, S. F. Hunt; Attorney General, Wm. Wallace; Auditor, J. R. Cockerell; Treasurer, Dr. Bruehl; Supreme Judge, G. W. Geldes; Member of Board of Public Works, Arthur Hugdes. The platform adopted accepts the three recent amendments to the Constitution; demands universal amnesty; denounces the Ku-Klux bill, the San Domingo project, railroad land grants, and the national banking system; demands that the internal revenue be collected by the State authorities, that lenders of greenbacks to the Government be paid only in greenbacks, that the legal tenders and three per cent. bonds be made convertible into each other at will, and that the customs duties be made payable in greenbacks.

COMPLIMENTARY, VERY.—Fred Kurtz, of the Centre Hall Reporter, in his paper of June 9th, emphatically informs the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN that it is in error when it intimates that he is a candidate for office. Fred. says, "We are not a candidate for Assembly," and then adds the following Ink Sling, "we are not in the wild hunt for office. Clap-trap and the dog days are looming up." To which Meek replies: "Our wide-awake brother 'Ink Slinger' Kurtz, of the Centre Hall Reporter, dropped in upon us on Tuesday last," &c. Nothing but an "ink slinger" Fred.? You do not amount to much in the estimation of Hon. P. G. Meek. Common courtesy would have required him to give you your proper name, at least. Why could he not have said Fred. Kurtz, Esq., dropped in upon us, &c.? But here we have it "clap-trap" Meek and "Ink Slinger" Kurtz.

THE DEFAULTING COLLECTORS.—The Watchman says, "the editor of the REPUBLICAN is blathering about the county finances again." Thank you Mr. Meek; but please permit us to inform you that it is not the editor of the REPUBLICAN that is blathering about the finances, but your own Democratic County Auditors. We merely suggested a new and safe method of collecting the county taxes, and in connection with our thoughts upon this subject copied the list of defaulting collectors from the Watchman where it was published and signed by your County Auditors. Why did they blather about the finances? Why? Because public opinion as informed and enlightened through the columns of the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN and the persistant efforts of the present efficient and gentlemanly treasurer, compelled them to do so. They found that the county was in debt over $38,000 and the collectors had collected the taxes and put them in their own pockets. Centre county is in debt nothwithstanding the assertions of the associate of the Watchman and it is no answer to these arguments to say that times are hard and that certain men have not paid their taxes.

BY FAIR MEANS OR FOUL.

The mighty effort of the Democratic party in Conneticut to maintain its hold on power after having been fullyand fairly beaten by the good people of that State at the last election, is but following in the wake of the old Democratic ship that, in times gone by, rode triumphant over the political sea, having for its motto, and nailed at the masthead, these significant words:

"By fair means if we may, by foul if we must."

Their recent action in insisting that Governor English should maintain his position, even at the point of the bayonet if necessary, serves to remind us of the "olden days of Democratic rule," when these things were the order of the day; and serves to illustrate more forcibly than in any other way, what that old fossilized party would do should the reins of government ever be placed in their hands. Although it has been shown conclusively, that frauds of the most aggravated nature were committed upon the sacred right of the ballot—after the startling exposures made by the committee appointed by the Legislature to examine into these "little practices" of the Democratic party, they still cling to the old ship with a tenacity for which they are truly remarkable, and demand that Gov. E. shall use the power placed at his disposal by the State, and stick to his Gubernatorial office.

GEN. M'CANDLESS—THE DEMOCRACY.

The Democratic candidate and party are treated by the Lancaster Examiner and Herald, in this manner: Another remarkable thing connected with the Democratic Convention is, that it nominated "General" M'Candless for Auditor General. Now, M'Candless, at the breaking out of the Rebellion, went into the war with great ardor, and bade fair to win for himself honor and distinction as a soldier. He was a young man of fair ability, soldierly bearing and courage. So much so that his superior officers recommended him to our great and good President, Abraham Lincoln, for promotion to a Brigadier-Generalship. President Lincoln was only too glad to promote him, and sent him a commission as Brigadier General. But he declined the commission and the promotion, resigned from the army, came home and wrote an insulting letter that he would no longer fight in this "nigger war." Now mark the consistency of this anti-nigger soldier. He turns himself and his party inside out, accepts a nomination on a platform that endorses every principle fought for and established by that very "nigger war" which he refused to continue to fight in!—Truly has it been said that "The mills of the Gods grind slowly, yet they grind exceedingly small."

This is the essence of providential sarcasm and retributive justice. God has not yet humbled these rebels to his great laws of love and justice to all mankind, and he has permitted them to acknowledge their great sin and error in shameless inconsistency. The people will further humble them by defeating them at the election in October, and the course of this Democratic party will be a warning to all others in the future not to forget eternal right and justice!

We have fought the good fight. Republicans, rejoice with us that our principles are acknowledged by our political enemies as established for all time. We have proved our faith in our principles for many long years, in the face of the howls and hootings of an ignorant Democratic rabble. But we have conquered! The great Democratic party of Pennsyvania has grounded arms, and meekly admits we have been right, and they wrong! Forward to victory!

THE following letter from General Sherman to the editor of the New York Herald disposes of another candidate for the Presidential succession. Those who know General Sherman, know that when he writes in small capitals he thinks with equal emphasis:

FORT SILL, COMANCHE RESERVATION,
May 25, 1871.

To the Editor of the Herald:

I have been skirting the Texas frontier for the past month, and here for the first time I meet files of Eastern papers, by which I see quite an unnecessary muss has been raised by a purported speech made by me at a supper of the Union League Club of New Orleans the night preceding my departure from that city. Whoever reported that as a speech by me committed a breach of propriety, for Governor Warmouth presided, and before I consented to respond to a call I was assured by the president of the society that no reporters were present, and that whatever was said would be sacred and confined to the persons present. Now as to politics. I think all my personal friends know my deep-seated antipathy to the subject, yet, as you seem not to understand me, I hereby state, and mean all that I say, that I NEVER HAVE BEEN AND NEVER WILL BE A CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT; THAT IF NOMINATED BY EITHER PARTY I SHOULD PEREMPTORILY DECLINE, AND EVEN IF UNANIMOUSLY ELECTED I SHOULD DECLINE TO SERVE.

If you can find language stronger to convey this meaning you are at liberty to use it.

I am your obedient servant,
W. T. SHERMAN, General.

OUR old friend Dr. Bissell, of Philadelphia, dropped in upon us yesterday. We were pleased to see the Doctor, notwithstanding he has proved a little recreant to his principles and the Republican party. We took him to task for the course he took in the election in the first Senatorial District, thereby, losing to us the State Senate. The Doctor was one of the first, to come out from the Democracy in 1856 when Freemont was the standard bearer of the party, but last fall he went over to the enemy, and through his influence the Copperhead Dechert was elected by the colored votes to the State Senate.

We were pleased to see the Doctor, although we cannot endorse the course he took, we shall always be pleased to see him when he comes to our town, provided that he will not call again on Meek, before coming to see us, as it shows to our mind, that there is more political dirty work to be done. Personally we like you, Doctor, but we condemn you politicaly. Call again and see us when you come, but keep away from Meek.

DEDICATION.

ODD FELLOWS DEDICATION.—The splendid lodge room belonging to Centre Lodge No. 153 I. O. of O. F., in Bellefonte was dedicated on the 6th inst., by past Grand Sire, James B. Nicholson, assisted by Past Grand Master, John B. Springer, both of Philadelphia, and Grand Representative C. N. Hickok, of Bedford. Previous to dedicating, about four hundred Odd Fellows turned out on parade, under Past Grand Bossart of Lock Haven, as Grand Marshal, and Past Grand D. G. Bush of Bellefonte as assistant Marshal. Over one hundred brothers from Lodges in Lock Haven, with ladies were present, with an excellent band of music. Delegations from Philipsburg and Osceola added to the interest of the occasion. Large crowds of country people were in town, and the general air of enjoyment every where was altogether refreshing. Centre Lodge had employed the Philipsburg Silver Cornet Band which did their duty splendidly, and contributed largely to the entertainment.

After the march through the principal streets of the place, the line came to a halt in front of the new lodge room and formed into open columns facing each other, when the Officers of the Grand Lodge, accompanied by Past District Deputy Curtin, Past Grands Kerlin and Stitzer, and the District Deputy Grand Master, J. S. Barnhart, passed through the lines into the Lodge Room, and the whole procession followed in reverse order. The execution of this part of the exercises have been commented upon as exceedingly fine. The procession took up its line of march, headed by the cornet band of Lock Haven, and the members of the order from that place. Then followed the delegations from Philipsburg and Oceola. The Philipsburg band headed Centre Lodge, which carried a large banner with this inscription, "in God we trust." The procession was clothed in the full regalia of the order, and presented one of the most imposing appearances witnessed in Bellefonte upon any occasion.

The Lodge Room was tastefully decorated with pictures banners and evergreens, put up by the ladies, and the carpet was richly enterwoven with symbolical emblems of the order.

A magnificent chandelier illuminated the hall with gas light, in the evening, and colored glass covered the gas lights and ornamented the walls in the rear of seats of the Vice Grand and Noble Grand of the Lodge. The ceremony opened by singing and prayer, brother Langley of Lock Haven officiating as Chaplin, after which the Lodge was delivered by Noble Grand Sternberg, over for the purposes of dedication. The dedicatory ceremony was conducted by Past Grand Sire, Jas. B. Nicholson, and took place not in secret session but in presence of a crowded hall, of sisters and brothers of the order. By order of the Grand Secretary, Past Deputy Roland Curtin, was appointed, herald of the North, Past Grand, H. Y. Stitzer, herald of the South, Past Grand, Wm. A. Kerlin, herald of the East and District Deputy Grand Master, J. S. Barnhart, herald of the West. The sprinkling of the water, the kindling of the fire upon the alter, the scattering of the wheat, and the strewing of flowers, by the heralds in their accompanying proclamation of the dedicatory ceremony were of no ordinary interest. To each proclamation, a flourish by the band and the solemn wording of the responses sent such a thrill of magic influence upon the feelings of the audience that shall never be forgotten. The beautiful and sublime sentiment of the Chaplin's duty, which was performed by brother Langley, is full of the suggestive lessons of divine truth and in perfect harmony with the principles of Odd Fellowship.

Grand Representative, C. N. Hickok, delivered an appropriate concluding address, which was more especially so, from the fact of a former visit paid to the lodge. He was followed by Past Grand Master Springer in a well timed speech of a few minutes, alluding to the nature of the surroundings. Both speakers had been previously visitors of the Lodge in the days of its early reorganization, and spoke of the gratifying evidence before them. The ceremony of dedicating ended with a benediction, and the announcement that a public Lecture would be given in Bush's Hall, by Past Grand Sire Nicholson in the evening. In due time the hall was filled, when the officers of the Grand Lodge were escorted by the band to the lecture room. The distinguished speaker was then introduced by Past Grand D. G. Bush. As an orator, Brother Nicholson has but few equals. That he possesses in an eminent degree those qualities of mind which adorn and beautify the works of Odd Fellowship, has been manifest in every department of the orders in which he has been engaged. The vigor and life, given to it in Pennsylvania through his efforts warns me that words of mine can add but little to the laurels which now encircle his brow.

We transfer from the columns of the Watchman, the following synopsis of the lecture and its observations upon the remaining part of the proceedings of this long-to-be-remembered festivity.—The speaker began by saying, that—

Odd Fellowship was not a mere mass of ceremonies, but involved the highest and holiest principles. That the purity of these principles and our belief that they are the principles that make people better and happier, are our reasons for proclaiming them to the world. Some people are foolish enough to believe in the ridiculous story of the goat, the false harrows, and other modes of torment that have been said to be peculiar to the order. All such things are nonsense, and Odd Fellowship is a solemn, beautiful and benevolent mode of doing good to the human race. There is no levity about it, and he appealed to any man who had been an Odd Fellow to say whether he had ever seen anything in the order that he was ashamed of after going to the sanctuary of his home. He had been an Odd Fellow for twenty-five years and had filled the highest positions in the order, but had yet to see the first thing inimical to the interests of the human family. It was a charitable and beneficial organization, acting on the great New Testament principle, "Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth." How comparatively little, said the speaker, can we do individually for the good of our kind, but how much when we unite our efforts. Hence Odd Fellowship. It is not a secret society exactly, but only private in its way of doing good. If it was to be publicly what it does do, all the gossips in the country would be talking about the affairs of their neighbors whom sickness or misfortune might have thrown upon the charity of the Lodge. The contributions of the lodges in Pennsylvania alone to their sick and suffering brethren have amounted to as high as $604,000 annually, which shows our immense facilities for doing good and relieving distress. He deprecated the denunciation of secret benevolent societies so often indulged in by the pulpit and press, and said that if he could be instrumental in aiding in this way the necessities of but one brother, he would be willing to risk the concentrated power of both against him, believing that God and humanity would justify his means. It was not from good men or women they wished to keep their secrets of charity and good will, but from bad men, and they placed themselves upon the New Testament platform in not proclaiming their good deeds to the world. Some pretended to say that Odd Fellowship was suggestive of infidelity. It was a base slander. God and religion is the basis of the whole organization, and its members are united to do all the good they can now, so that they may aid in the hastening of that glorious time when the knowledge of God shall cover the earth as the waters cover the sea. No matter what sentiments people hold outside of the Order, in the lodge-room all men are brothers, working together for good. The speaker then told how the northern and southern divisions of the Grand Lodge of the United States acted before, during, and after the war, showing their mutual love for each other, and stating they were the first national deliberative body to come together after the contest. He then indulged in general remarks, relating a number of incidents to show the good performed by the Order and its tender and pitying care of its members in misfortune.

Of course we do not pretend to make a full report of Mr. Nicholson's remarks, but the above will give the public an idea of what he said. He is an eloquent orator, and speaks deliberately and impressively. He was listened to with much attention and with a feeling of general gratification.

After the Lecture, everybody repaired to the Bush House where was the next thing in order. At half after nine the doors of the fine dining room were thrown open and the rush began. About one hundred and thirty persons sat down to the first tables, and then ensued a scene of demolition. The tables were elegantly set and groaned beneath the weight of substantials and delicacies. Immense lots of cold turkey, cold ham, chicken salad, pyramids of cake and cake of all sorts, ice cream and a host of other good things composed the feast, with excellent coffee, tea, &c. Handsome boquets ornamented the tables, and the whole appearance was stylish and beautiful. Mine host M'Clain, bustled about everywhere, and the waiters, both white and black, were kind, attentive and obliging. The hungry guests did justice to the viands, filling themselves to repletion. But suppers, good as they may be, can't last always, and this one came to an end also, when an adjournment was effected to the where fair ladies and brave men enjoyed the festive hours till nearly morning. The music furnished by Messrs. Smith, Kline, Scheid, Miller and Young was delightful, and happy feet kept strict time to it—you bet. There were many handsome ladies present and the costumes were beautiful and becoming. The floor managers Messrs, Isaac Guggenheimer, H. B. Pontius, Z. T. Gudykunst, D. Lang and William Galbraith understood their business thoroughly, and made everything go off pleasantly and decorously. It was one of the nicest balls we ever attended. Among the gentlemen dancers, our good friend Sternberg, the Noble Grand of Centre Lodge, was particularly distinguished, and was generally sought after by the ladies. The fun was kept up till almost morning, when the dancers separated, fairly wearied with enjoyment. May such occasions come often.

In conclusion, the prosperity of Centre Lodge No. 153 has been almost without a parallel in the history of Odd Fellowship. It reorganized on the 17th day of August 1867 with five members and numbers at the present time about two hundred and twenty. It has also become the owner of a perpetual paid up lease, with all the advantages of a first class lodge room in the building which it occupies. As an institution of Bellefonte we are proud of it. Long may the principles of Friendship Love and Truth overshadow its walls, while Faith, Hope end Charity combine to bless the world with peace and soften the heart with sympathy for the afflictions of mankind.

For the REPUBLICAN.

MESSRS. BROWN & BARGER:—In your paper of last week you mention the names of several defaulting collectors, running back to 1866, that owe the county near $40,000, or about $8,000 a year Now, though the largest number of the taxpayers may be Democrats, yet they do not propose to pay the pets of the Commissioners, or the Treasurer $8,000 annually out of their County Taxes. The Commissioners and Treasurer may be very good Democrats, but their way of doing things costs too much, and now when we are again preparing to select men for these offices, we would like to understand whether it will still be necessary to pay the $8,000 a year to the friends of the Commissioneas and Treasurer and if so, whether we must pay it as support for the Democratic party, or for the Commissioners and Treasurer. We would also like to know how many of these defaulting collectors are Democrats, and which ones they are? We have long been dissatisfied with the way that you Bellefonte men thrust candidates upon us without regard to their fitness for the trusts committed to them; and now rather than pay $8,000 yearly out of our taxes to support any set of men we will run our own independent ticket composed of new men in whose honesty and fidelity we can trust, and your Bellefonte politicians may nominate and run whomsoever they please, and we will then see whether Bellefonte or the balance of the County, will elect the people's officers. DISSATISFIED DEMOCRATS.

For the REPUBLICAN.

ED. REPUBLICAN:—By what authority are the Trustees of the Academy erecting the new building on the public Streets of the Borough? Has this street been declared vacant by the Court? Have Councils given permission? If so, have they the authority to do so? Who can answer?

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

THE JUDGE'S DAUGHTER.

I was studying law in the office of Amiss & Herbert, in a thriving town of a State which is bounded on one side by the Ohio river. Their practice was very large, and sometimes, when there was a press of business, it was necessary for me to perform duties that would not have fallen to my lot. One morning I was seated in the private office, engaged in unraveling some very complicated portions of the law. Besides myself, there was no one present except Mr. Amiss, the senior member of the firm. He was seated at his desk, writing very busily, there being no sound audible save the rapid scratching of his pen, and occasionally the rustle of the leaves of my book, as I searched its pages.

Presently, however, he laid down his pen, with a very distinct force, and turned toward me. I placed my book-mark, and gave him my attention, for I knew he would not have performed this action unless he wished my notice.

"Mr. Arnott," said he, quickly, "I have here a deposition notice in the case of Smith vs. Nesmith, which must be served upon Lee & Owens, attorneys for the defendant, this day. You are the only available man about the office, and I wish to know if you are willing to go out to Clarksburg for this purpose?"

"I am at your service, sir," I replied.

"I suppose you will have to start almost immediately," he continued glancing up at a clock which hung over the desk. It is now a quarter to twelve, and the train going west is due in a little over a half an hour. The notice has been ready for a day or two, but the necessity of its being served has unaccountably slipped my mind."

I signified my willingness to start immediately, and in half an hour I was whirling toward Clarksburg, with the notice in my possession. A ride of two hours brought me to my destination. I stepped off the train and hastened to the office of Messrs. Lee & Owens.

An office-boy met me at the door, and in response to my inquiries, he told me that Mr. Owens had gone West on legal business, while Mr. Lee was at Ellenboro', a station distant five miles in the direction from which I had come and would not return that day.

"What am I to do?" I mentally inquired of myself. "This notice must necessarily be served to-day?"

"The accommodation train, going toward Ellenboro', is due in ten minutes," said the boy as if in answer to my question. "If you hurry, sir, you can catch it."

Of course I hastened to the depot, and in a short time Ellenboro' was reached.

It was rather a sorry-looking place—a store, a blacksmith shop, and a poor-looking house, with the sign "Hotel" in front, was about all there was of it. I stepped into the hotel.

"Is Mr. Lee, of the firm of Lee & Owens, here?" I inquired of the landlord.

"No, sir, he is not here now," was the reply.

"He was here a short time ago, but he has gone out to his brother the judge's."

"Where does Judge Lee live?" I asked.

"About four miles from here?"

This was a satisfactory piece of intelligence to me, indeed! I was rather at a loss as to what action to take.

"How can I get there? I asked.

"I do not know," answered the man. "There is no mode of conveyance from here to Judge Lee's place. His brother rode my horse, which is the only one in the neighborhood that can be obtained. Did you come from Clarksburg sir?"

"I did," answered I.

"Pity, sir; for Judge Lee's residence, although not on the railroad, is somewhat in the direction of Clarksburg. In fact, he resides just the same distance from that place that he does from here, and while there is no communication between Ellenboro' and his place, it is very easy to get out from Clarksburg. If you had only known—"

"But I didn't know that Mr. Lee would be out there," interrupted I, somewhat crossly. "If I had, there would have been no necessity for my comming here. My busines with him is rather important, and I must devise some way of getting out there."

The landlord glanced at my boots, which gave evidence of having been lately polished, scanned my neatly-fitting suit, and, putting his hands into his pockets, said:

"Well, sir, there is still left a way by which your journey may be performed, and it is the only way that I can think of."

"What way?" asked I, quickly, hoping that he had some method of conveyance in reserve which could be obtained by paying something beyond what would be just. But my hopes were quickly dashed.

"Why, sir, as it is only four miles, you might walk over. It is a muddy time of the year, but if you wish to attempt it there will be no trouble in finding the way after you are once started in the right direction."

I groaned mentally. This was something I had not expected. A walk over four miles of not very level country was not to be desired by any means.

"But," thought I, "it is highly important that my purpose be accomplished. Certainly it will not do for a determined young man like myself to be so easily discouraged. I most assuredly will attempt this trip."

And so, after receiving the necessary directions, I put as good a face as possible upon the matter, and marched away in the direction in which Judge Lee resided.

"Pon my word!" exclaimed I, as I progressed, "I never dreamed of such a thing as this! The idea of me, who never walked four miles at one time, even over the most pleasant road, in all my life—the idea of me taking this journey through the mud is astonishing.

On I plunged, sometimes making fair progress, at others picking my way through extremely muddy places, and, in spite of all my care, occasionally stepping into a mud puddle with such force as to cause the muddy water to spurt over my once neat apparel. It was the spring season of the year, and though, on account of recent rains it was very unpleasant under foot, the day was mild and balmy. Pleasant breezes fanned my brow, while the sun shone bright and clear, there being scarcely a cloud in the heavens.

The road lead through the woods, and nature shone fresh in her garment of green. Upon my right, and upon my left, the wild plum, the crab apple, and the juneberry-bush were putting forth beautiful blossoms.

Still, in spite of the beauties of nature, I had an excessively fatiguing task. I had, it seemed to me, traveled almost four miles, when I came to a log house. A man was chopping wood by the door.

"How far is it to Judge Lee's?" was my inquiry.

"About two miles and a quarter," was the answer.

"Whew!" whistled I, "at Ellenboro' I was informed that it was four miles, and it appears to me that I have traveled at least three-fourths of the distance."

"You are mistaken, sir. It is said to be two miles from here to Ellenboro', which, I suppose is about correct. Judge Lee's is a much nicer-looking portion of the country than this. You keep right on till you come to a hill, about a quarter of a mile distant. When you get over the hill, you will be in sight of the river—a small river, but there is a nice country along its shores. You are then within—well, something over a mile of your destination. You will then be in the road which runs up and down the river. Take the right hand road, which leads down the river and you can't miss the way."

I thanked him for his somewhat lengthy and mostly unnecessary directions, and proceeded on my way. I became very weary before I reached the river road, and wished several times that I had never taken such a trip. But reach it I did at last and though I had admired the scenery before, I thought it was now absolutely charming. The river was comparatively narrow, but the valley was at least half a mile wide, and beautifully undulating. It was partitioned with many fields, while pleasant cottages stood here and there. Some distance down the river stood a residence, more stately than the rest, which I supposed was Judge Lee's.

I walked along slowly, admiring the view, and thinking that I, an inhabitant of the smoky town, was at least partly repaid for my trouble and fatigue by the beauty, the sweetness, and the peace of the scene that lay spread out before me.

As I thus walked, I heard the tread of horses' feet behind me, and soon there rode up an old gentleman, accompanied by a lady, whose face was almost concealed by the bonnet she wore, yet a young lady, so far as I could judge, and at least a very graceful rider.

"Good evening, sir!" said the old gentleman; "nice evening."

I replied to this salutation, and inquired:

"Is that Judge Lee's residence down yonder?"

"That large house is his. You find it rather muddy travelling do you not, young gentleman?"

"Indeed, I do, sir!" spoke I. "I have come from Ellenboro' this afternoon, and I am so fatigued that I almost despair of completing the remaining portion of my journey, which is only to Judge Lee's."

A bright thought—I consided it so—entered my mind. No doubt this was some respectable old farmer and his daughter; if I would offer him a suitable reward, very probably he would let me take his place, and I would make the rest of my trip with the greatest ease. I glanced at his boots, and saw that they were more substantial than mine, and inferred from this that he would not be adverse to a comparatively short trip through the mud.

"I'll give you a dollar, sir," said I, acting instantly upon my ideas, "if you will let me ride from here to Judge Lee's. Please do not be offended—as I told you before, I am very greatly wearied, and you will be conferring a great favor upon me."

Something like the shadow of a smile flitted across his face. He pondered a moment, apparently undecided.

"If it is too much of an inconvenience——" I commenced, but he interrupted me.

"You can ride, sir—a dollar is a fair price for walking this distance. I am stout and hearty, and it won't injure me in the least to perform this little bit of labor. Whoa, Prince!"

He dismounted on a stump by the roadside, and I, mounting immediately, took his place by the side of the lady.

For some time we rode on in silence. I was the first to speak.

"Judge Lee seems to be quite comfortably fixed down yonder?"

I was a stranger, but, as I was riding by her side, I didn't consider it necessary to be particularly grave. Her reply was satisfactory, and I continued:

"However, I wonder that a gentleman of his position does not prefer the city to the country."

"He was raised a plain farmer, sir," she answered; "and I believe he loves the country."

"It is no woder that he loves this beautiful valley," I said. "I believe I would be content to live and die here myself, if it always is as peacefully calm and pleasant as it now is."

The river wound like a silver thread down through the valley. The sun, sinking low in the western horizon, toached valley and hills, cottages and mansions, with golden light. The birds filled the air with songs of melody.

I soon found that my companion, though somewhat cold at first, could talk pleasantly and agreeably. I liked her voice, for it was soft and musical, and I wished that her provoking bonnet would not hide so much of her face. I could just see enough of it to make me imagine that she might be pretty. Her manner charmed me. She neither seemed embarassed by the novelty of the manner of our acquaintaoce, nor anyways coquettish or desirous of attracting my attention.

Almost before I was aware of the fact, we had reached an avenue that led toward the judge's residence. I reined in my horse.

"We will go up the avenue," said my companion, simply; "it is not necessary to stop."

I glanced at her curiously, but my attention was attracted by a colored man, who opened the folding gates that we might enter the avenue.

"Where is judge, Miss Grace?" he required.

I began to feel embarrassed, as a rather curious idea flashed into my brain.

"He is not far off, and will be here presently," was the answer.

"The judge!—who—what?" and I, confusedly.

A clear, ringing laughter, sweeter than the songs of the birds, saluted my ears.

"Oh, the gentleman who so kindly permitted you to mount his steed back yonder is Judge Lee, and Sam wishes the fact of his not coming back with me explained: that is all."

I felt my face flush, and I said:

"And you?"

"I am his daughter, Grace Darling Lee, and——."

"I—I—I will beg his pardon," I stammered, "and I ask yours now."

"Granted," she said, "on my part. Really, you have committed no very heinous offense. Please excuse my mirth, for the affair is more laughable than serious, while, judging from your countenance, it appears to be the reverse with you."

I assisted her to dismount, and as I did so, her bonnet was displaced from her head, and fell to the ground.

"Oh, dear said she, artlessly, "there are the effects of having my sunbonnet-strings untied."

I picked it up, and glanced at her face. I had, you remember, supposed that she was pretty, but I was scarcely prepared for the sweetness and lovliness that fixed my gaze as by magnetic power. A subtle influence thrilled my being as I looked into her eyes.

"Please give me my bonnet," said she, blushing.

Her ring was answered by the servant.

"Please show this gentleman in," she said, as she vanished down the hall.

My business at this place suddenly occurred to me.

"I came to see Mr. Lee, of Clarksburg, Judge Lee's brother," I said to the servant. "Is he here?"

"Yes, sir," was the answer; "walk in."

I was acquainted with Mr. Lee, and finding him alone, my business was soon transacted. Of course, as it was late in the evening I was invited to remain. I had scarcely any choice in the matter, for I could not have gone very far that evening, and if I was to stay anywhere in the neighborhood, it must be here. However, I had no desire to go, for the greatest influence that ever works upon a man's heart or destiny was touching me with its magic power, and was forcing me to think that this must be the most attractive spot in all the world.

After supper I was formally introduced to the judge—he not being present at the repast. His countenance gave no evidence that he remembered the occurrence of the afternoon; but when my name was called he started and said:

"Arnott! What, you are not the son of Doctor Arnott, who for many years resided in Petersburg?"

"The same, sir!" It replied. "Were you acquainted with him?"

"We were firm friends for many years. I am happy to make your acquaintance, and you are doubly welcome to my house for his sake."

He grasped my hand, and as I looked at him I saw in him, despite the plain dress, the man of judgement and intellect.

So, being welcomed in the name of my father, I was treated as cordially as if I had been an acquaintance of years. The evening passed pleasantly and quickly. We conversed about scenes and events that occurred during the judge's entercourse with my father.

I forgot my books, and was more enlivened by the sprightly converse of the evening than I would have been by attending a dozen fashionable parties. Miss Grace Darling Lee played and sang for us, and I suppose it was her presence that made the evening so pleasant to me. I thought I had never seen one like her—so pure, so fresh, so fair—even her drapery seemed to fall in more graceful folds than I had ever seen on any other woman.

That night, after I had retired, a sweet face hovered about my slumbers, and a musical laugh and voice echoed in my ears. I think I murmured the name of Grace Darling Lee many times in my dream.

The next morning Judge Lee cordially invited me to remain at least a few days with him.

"You look as if you were overworked and needed rest," he said. "A few days spent here among the fields and flowers will do you more good than a month of excitement in the town."

I objected at first.

"I don't wish to——"

"I know what you would say, young man," he interrupted. "You need not imagine that you will be imposing upon us, if you remain here. You will be welcome. Why your father was almost like a brother to me. It is highly important that you remain. You will kill yourself with your study if you do not take some rest."

His argument was weighty, and my feeble objections were overruled. I sent a message to Amiss & Herbert that I would not return to the office for a few days, and so my holiday commenced.

The days flew swiftly by, and I became very intimate with the judge's daughter. We walked, we boated, we rode together, and a glorious exhilaration—a fortaste of paradise, was mine.

The impression that had been made upon my heart at first became deeper and deeper each day. And she whom I realized almost from the very first was to be my fate, was, it possible, even more lovable than she had seemed at the beginning. I found that the beautiful face only gave index of the pure soul within.

So, in the glorious spring-time during these golden, happy days, I learned to love. At first I was simply content to be with her. It was sufficient happiness to hear her voice and behold her face. But soon I felt that I must tell my love. These days of pleasure could not last very long—they would pass too soon. I must—I would know my fate! Yet days passed, and I had not spoken.

One evening we were together in the avenue. She was standing beneath a huge popular tree, looking sweeter in her white muslin dress than any flower that grew in her father's grounds. I felt that this was my time to speak, and yet when I would try to do so my brain would become confused, my ideas would vanish away, and not a word could I utter of the love that filled my heart.

Our conversation had been on ordinary topics, and I had tried in vain to to lead it in a way that would be favorable to my purpose. At last I grew desperate.

"Miss Lee," I said, suddenly and lightly, "There is a subject upon which we have never conversed that would be very interesting to me at least."

"What is it?" said she innocently.

I felt that my opportunity had arrived—my manner changed from gaety to earnestness.

"It is love," I said.

She blushed and her eyes fell before mine.

"I have often thought," I continued, abruptly, "that if I should ever love, I should tell my love if I had the millionth part of a chance or hope; and yet, when now my heart is filled with love, when I can think of nothing else, when all my happiness centres in my love, I cannot—I cannot speak of it."

I was forced by the power of my emotion to cease, and, looking at her, I saw that she was trembling and almost ready to weep. Her agitation nerved me.

"I will speak!" I said. "Oh, Grace Lee I——"

A tread upon the walk startled me, and turning, I saw at a short distance, Judge Lee coming down the avenue. He joined us, and my opportunity for the present was gone. The words that were upon the end of my tongue were yet unuttered.

I am afraid my replies to the Judge's remarks were not very intelligible.

Grace remained but a few moments, and when the first opportunity offered, quietly left us.

Henceforth it seemed as if I was to be left in despair. Grace avoided me so that we were never a moment alone together. The peace and happiness that had been in my heart departed. I said to myself:

"She does not love me, or she would not thus avoid me!"

I grew moody and abstracted, and my walks and drives were taken alone.

About a quarter of a mile below the Judge's residence, on the opposite side of the river, was a mill. to furnish power for which a dam was erected across the river. The water poured over this with a continued roar.

Some thirty or forty yards above the dam was a large elm-tree—almost as large as the poplar which stood on the avenue. This became a frequent resort of mine. The roar of the water appeared to sooth and quiet me.

Almost a week after the scene in the avenue, I was seated beneath this tree, engaged in thought. I wondered if there was a possibility that I would ever possess the love of Grace Lee.

"Oh," I murmured, "shall I ever hear her say, 'Ralph Arnott, I love you?"

My reverie was interrupted by a scream. I glanced up and saw at a short distance above me, a light boat, in which I had rowed many times. It was sweeping rapidly towards the dam.

I saw instantly that it was occupied; but my heart stood still when I recognized the dearest form in the world j

Grace Lee's hair was floating wildly in the wind, and with one ear she was striving bravely to contend the unmanageable boat! She beheld me at the same moment that I did her.

"Mr. Arnott!" she shouted, "Save me! Save me!"

For a moment I had been paralyzed; but that voice roused me! I would have answered its call at any peril!

I am a powerful swimmer, and, throwing off my coat, I ran a few yards further down the stream and plunged in. Desperately I swam, and, soon reaching the boat, I climbed over its side at the peril of oversetting it.

I seized the oar, and began to scull toward the shore with all my strength. We were being hurled toward the dam with fearful speed—the boat was beginning to tremble and shake, and, the thunder of the waters echoed in our ears!

It was a time of deadly peril, and with all my power I bent to my task. We were approaching the shore, but fearfully near the dam!

A cry of despair burst from my lips! It would be impossible! Wait! I could devote my last remaining strength to the effort!

The bow of the boat touched the shore, and as it swung around I seized my darling in my arms and leaped on the grassy bank, while the boat, whirled again by the current, seemed to stand still a moment, and then disappeared over the dam!

"Safe! Safe!" I murmured.

I glanced into Grace's face as she lay quietly in my arms. Her eyes were closed, and I thought she had fainted!

My lips touched hers.

"Oh, Grace, my darling, my precious one, speak to me! I love you!"

Her eyes unclosed, and I saw in them unutterable joy and peace. A tear trembled on her lashes—her head nestled closer to me, and she murmured: "Ralph Arnott, I love you so!"

I am almost done. Her name is now Grace Darling Arnott; and I am happy to state besides, that, though I am not very old, she is the judge's wife as well as the judge's daughter.

BE very careful how you mortgage to the Devil. His notes are all payable "on demand," and there is no telling when he may take a notion to foreclose.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now complete connections made,
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedy and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of Spring and Summer clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of travelling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest price.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere; if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality.

RANGING FROM $6,50 to $18,00

I do not wish to inforrm you reader, that Dr. Wonderful, or any other man, has discovered a remedy that cures Consumption, when the lungs are half consumed, in short, will cure all diseases whether of mind, body or estate, make men live forever, and leave death to play for want of work and is designed to make our sublunary sphere a blissful Paradise, to which Heaven itself shall be but a side show. You have heard enough of that kind of humbuggery. But when I tell you that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will positively cure the worst cases of Catarrh in the Head. I only assert that which thousands can testify to. I will pay $500 Reward for a case that I cannot cure. A pamphlet giving symptoms and other information sent free to and address. This remedy is

SOLD BY MOST DRUGGISTS IN ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

Price 50 cents. Sent by man, postpaid, on receipt of sixty cents, or four packages for two dollars. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private Stamp, which is a positive guarantee of Genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. Remember that this private Stamp, issued by the United States Government expressly for stamping my medicines, has my portrait, name and address, and the words "U. S. Certificate of Genuiness," engraved upon it, and need not be mistaken. Don't be swindled by travelers and others representing themselves as Dr. Sage; I am the only man now living that has the knowledge and right to manufacture the Genuine Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I never travel to sell this medicite.

SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN.
A New Era In Medicine.

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts, and can have faith in evidence, read the following.

Know all men by these presents. That, on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-six, personally came Joseph Haydrick to me known as such, and being duly sworn deposed as follows: "That he is the sole general agent for the United States and dependencies thereof for preparations or medicines known as Dr. Maggiel's Pills and Salve, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

JAMES SMEITRE, Notary Public,
[L. S.] 14 Wall St. New York.

June 1st, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, Doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss. JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue, D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
NEW YORK, April 7, 1866. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me, by him, about eight weeks after the accident:

NEW YORK, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder. I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal: I tried Maggiel's Salve and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true and anybody can see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2d Avenue.

J. HARDY, 119 Greeck St.

EXTRACTS FROM VARIOUS LETTERS.

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvellous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your Pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears, and the noise has left."

"Send me two boxes, I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar, your price is 25 cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your Pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Pills by return mail."

I Have over 200 such Testimonials as these, but want of space compels me to conclude.

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS,

And all erruptions of the skin, the SALVE is most invaluable. It does not heal externally alone, but penetrates with the most searching effects to the very root of the evil.

DR. MAGGIEL'S PILLS

Invariably cure the following Diseases: Asthma, Bowel Complaints, Coughs, Colds, Chest Diseases, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Diarrhea, Dropsy, Debility, Fever and Ague, Female Complaints, Headache, Indigestion, Influenza, Inflammation, Inward Weakness, Liver Complaints, Lowness of Spirits, Ring Worm, Rheumatism, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, etc.

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

COMPOUND FLUID
Extract Catawba
GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubard and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

For Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Bilious Affections, Sick Or Nervous Headache, Costiveness Etc. Purely Vegetable, Containing No Mercury, Minerals Or Deleterious Drugs.

H

These Pills are the most delightfully pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone, and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the finest ingredients. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar-coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated. PRICE FIFTY CENTS PER BOX.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S
HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND
Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever, Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being prepared expressly for the above complaints, its blood-purifying properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a clear and healthy color and Restores the patient to a state of health and purity. For purifying the blood, removing all chronic constitutional diseases arising from an impure state of the blood. And the only Reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion. Price, $1 50 Per Bottle.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC,

has cured every case of DIABETES in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick-dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of both sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision. Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Etc.

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty-five, and from thirty-five to fifty-five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pain; ocd-wetting in children.

B

Helmbold's extract buchu is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and Cures all Diseases arising from habits of Dissipation, and Excesses and Imprudences in life Impurites of the Blood, Etc., Superseding Copaiba in Affections for which it is used, and Syphilitic Affections—In these Diseases used in Connection with Helmbold's rose wash.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to ladies, the extract buchu is Unequalled by any other Remedy as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or schirrus state of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterility, and for all Complaints incident to the Sex, whether arising from Indiscretion or Habits of Dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most Eminent Physicians and Midwives for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions, of Both Sexes and all Ages (attended with any of the above Diseases or Symptoms.)

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS, OF DISSIPATION, ETC.,

in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing Obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, Allaying Pain and Inflamation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they have been deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all Affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. PRICE ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS PER BOTTLE.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLB'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

cannot be surpassed as a Face Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples Spots, Scorbutic Dryness, Indurations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels redness and incipient inflammation, hives, rash, moth patches, dryness of scalp or skin, frost bites, and all purposes for which salves or ointments are used; restore the skin to a state of purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principle claim to undounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most Superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, safety and efficacy—the invariable accompaniments of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent Lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA, AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended, cannot be surpassed. PRICE, ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

Full and explicit directions accompany the medicines.

Evidences of the most responsible and reliable character furnished on application, with hundreds of thousands of living witnesses, and upward of 50,000 unsolicited certificates and recommendendatory letters, many of which are from the highest sources, including eminent Physicians, Clergymen, Statesmen, etc. The proprietor has never resorted to their publication in the newspapers; he does not do this from the fact that his articles rank as Standard Preparations, and do not need to be propped up by certificates.

POLITICAL, PERSONAL AND ASSOCIATED ACTION.

To lift up the masses of men to a higher standpoint of moral and mental excellence, to impart to them greater skill, greater productive power, greater self respect and higher conscientious motives,, are the only means of a permanent cure of poverty, crime and discontent. This can be accomplished by three-fold action: Political, Personal and Associated.

PROPER POLITICAL ACTION.

Political action can only tend incidentally to this object. The workingmen, like all good citizens, ought to ally themselves with that party, whose history furnishes the most complete guarantees of beneficent progress. If the workingmen of the United States have any specific reforms to propose, they must first present them at the bar of public opinion, where all political causes are tried, and then endeavor to have them incorporated in the platform of the dominant political party; for in that way they will be most speedily converted into the law of the land. If then the Republican party has given evidence that it is ready to adopt all principles and ideas which the popular conscience approves, and make them a part of its platform, surely the workingman, as such, has no occasion first to tear down that political party and establish a new one, for the purpose of accomplishing his objects. Common sense clearly indicates that it is much easier to engraft any popular principle into the platform of the dominant party which has the power to carry it out, than first to popularize a principle, which must be done at all events, and then tear down the party and substitute a new and special party in its place. It may be strongly suspected, therefore, that those who advocate the propriety of securing special legislation for the workingman by the formation of a new party, are using this only as a pretext to bring the Democratic party into power, and for the purpose of obtaining pelf, places, and power for themselves.

In so far then as the workingman needs special legislation, he can obtain it, after due discussion, from the Republican party, which has a history that incontrovertibly shows that it has been, for the last ten years, the one, real, practical friend of the workingman, making no distinction on account of race or color.

HISTORY OF THE WORKINGMAN'S MOVEMENT.

What has given to the modern labor movement its strength and consideration? What has given an impulse to the elevation and dignity of labor throughout the whole world, except the abolition of involuntary labor in the United States?

During the forty years' reign of the Democratic party, several millions of workingmen and women and their offspring were bought and sold, like the cattle of the field, and dedicated to the infernal moloch of American Slavery. American workingmen were prevented by cruel and outrageous laws fromlearning to read and write, and, consequently, to think. They were prevented both by laws and public opinion from leaving the class of physical laborers to enter the professions or to become their own employers.

The Republican party, seeking the emancipation of this oppressed class, through good and evil report, and after years of struggle and obloquy, succeeded in arousing the public conscience to demand the abolition of involuntary servitude. The Republican party insisted that voluntary labor, secured by voluntary and equitable contracts, should be substituted for involuntary and hereditary slavery. The party has done more than this. It has overcome successfully, with the aid of the nation, a gigantic civil war. Under its leadership several hundred thousand men sacrificed their lives in behalf of that grand principle, that involuntary servitude shall be forever abolished.

EDUCATION AND ENFRANCHISEMENT.

The enormous debt which now rests upon the nation, and which is an incubus upon every man's energies, was caused by the late gigantic rebellion. These rebels were all Democrats. There were no Republicans in the rebellion. And since that time every means calculated to benefit this class of poor emancipated laborers has been resisted with insolence and malignity. The Ku Klux outrages to-day are nothing more than the same malignancy on the part of the land holders against their former slaves, trying by intimidation to have them submit to their previous domination, cheating them out of their wages, and reducing them to their former state of abject dependence, though they cannot re-establish slavery in name.

The Republican party has made the very name of reform a popular catchword—so that pseudo reformers are proclaiming their silly reform nostrums, like patent medicine dealers, on every stump. Until the Republican party made "reform" popular, conservatism and conservative nostrums were the order of the day.

THE HOMESTEAD LAWS.

The record shows, and it is a dark and damning record. that the only veto which President Buchanan had the courage to muster, was hurled against the Homestead Bill, which enacted that the public domain shall be set apart for the use of the actual settlers. It superseded the issue of land warrants, which could be bought up by capitalists, and located in large bodies, thus preventing the workingman from gaining a home upon the national domain, except on usurious and disadvantageous terms. It was the Republican party that in the very first year of its power, enacted the Homestead Bill into a law, and has upheld its provisions ever since. The memory of the American people must be short, indeed, if they do not recollect that the Homestead policy was denounced by the Democratic press, as unconstitutional, aggrarian and revolutionary.

ENFRANCHISEMENT OF THE FREEDMEN.

The Republican party, not satisfied with the mere emancipation of the Southern workingmen, enfranchised them, and conferred upon them the freedman's weapon—the ballot—so that they might be able to maintain their political and personal rights of voluntary labor and of State education, against the assaults of their enemies.

THE FREEDMAN'S BUREAU.

The Republican party did more than that. It saw that these people were too poor to maintain voluntary schools. It saw that the public sentiment in the former slave States was totally opposed to giving them an education or to establish common schools of any kind. The South never had decent schools before emancipation, and determined not to have any for the use of the freedmen. Therefore the freedmen's bureau was instituted, which for several years undertook to establish schools under national auspices, free alike to the children of all classes; and if the freedmen profited most largely by these national schools, it was because the white workingman had sunk so low as to be unable to appreciate the advantages and blessings of education.

The Republican party made, moreover, a solemn compact before re-admitting the late rebellious States into the Union, that they should maintain, hereafter, public schools open to all, which could only inure to the benefit of the workingmen, both black and white.

THE PURITY OF THE BALLOT BOX.

The Republican party has enacted a law to protect each and every man in casting his ballot, to prevent ballot-stuffing by unworthy men, to guarantee to each and every workingman his absolute sovereignty; and to secure to him his equal influence, which is endangered by the corrupting power of wealth, wielded by monopolies and consolidated capital. But in every stage, in every turn, no matter what beneficient provisions were proposed, the Republican party has encountered the virulent and deadly hostility of the Democratic leaders and press. And even to day, in the recent address which was published by them, signed by fourteen United States Senators, and ninety-three Democratic Representatives, we defy any one to find one single generous sentiment, the proposal of a single specific measure of reform, a single line expressing intention to benefit, either the workingman, or the country at large, or as tending to augment the glory and honor of the Nation, either at home or abroad. It is the same system of fault-finding, of pulling down, of belittleing, of every true conscientious and philanthropic man that has endeavered to promote the progress of our country.

Whenever our Government has endeavored to protect the weak and poor in their rights, the Democratic party has exhausted the vocabulary of opprobrious terms,in denounciation of the Republicaa party. Surely the workingmen of the United States are too intelligent to be misled by this fierce denunciation of measures, which experience and time have proved of benefit alike to the nation at large, and particularly to the poor men of integrity, and interested in an honest government.

LAND GRANTS TO RAILROADS.

It is true large quantities of public lands have been granted to Railroad Companies, and the time has come when this system of disposing of the public domain must stop. Some of the land grants were not made judiciously, and the temptation to Congressional corruption is very great. Yet the land grants given to the Pacific Railways are, by no means, an unmixed evil. They have rendered accessible many millions of acres of land—lost in the American desert—which, as long as speedy communication was wanting, could only be used as hunting grounds.

The Railroad Companies are greatly interested in emigration; it is of the utmost consequence to them, to have their long and exposed lines protected by settlements; and, therefore, they are offering their lands on such easy terms that emigrants prefer them to the public lands further off. A law, however, ought to be speedily enacted, fixing the maximum price of said lands, and preventing their sale in large contiguous bodies to single individuals and corporations. I am glad that public sentiment has been aroused upon this question, and that the workingman and people generally, will visit with political damnation the politician who favors the squandering of the public domain. The Republican party and press are fully committed against further land grants on the terms hitherto made.

THE EIGHT HOUR LAW.

At the demand of the workingmen, and as a national example, the Republican party enacted that, on all public works, eight hours shall constitute a day's work. This is another evidence that this party has been anxious to secure the influence and co-operation of the artizan.

For the REPUBLICAN.

YOUNG MEN.

BY SHABY.

Young men, we have a word to say to you. You have reached the period when you are called by universal consent "Young Men" is for you a very serious question. Great destinies lie shrouded in your swiftly passing hours. Great responsibilities meet you every day. Great dangers lie hidden in the by paths of life. Great uncertainty hangs over your future history. God has given you existence with full power and opportunity to improve your time and be happy. He has given you equal power to despise his gift (you are moral agents) and be wretched. Which you will do is the problem to be solved by your choice and conduct.

To you so young, so inexperienced, so susceptible of evil, so capable of good, so full of feelings, so unsettled in opinion is committed the awful trust of your future happiness. Your bliss or misery, in two worlds, hangs poised in the balance. The manner in which you spend your youth will turn the scale for weal or woe. It has been well said that "the season of youth is a critical period"—critical indeed and I would, if possible, engrave the thought in letters of gold on your hearts, and make you feel how much the choice depends on the path you mark out for your future life.

The character must be more or less modified by the intellectual companionships of your early years. Reject, therefore, with virtuous horror, every book, however fascinating, or eloquent it may be, which tends to stimulate any evil propensities of your minds. It is a seducer of virtue, a panderer to vice, an evil to be abominated, shunned and feared. Next to bad books, comes the influence of abandoned companions to seduce the innocent into a depth of iniquity as deep as that into which they themselves have fallen. This is the delight of bad men. Some of these men do this for what they may gain off their unhappy dupes; others for the fiendish pleasure it affords a depraved heart to see itself equaled in wickedness by kindred minds. Hence a virtuous youth may settle it as an indisputable fact, that his guilty companions will either drag him down to their level, or he must raise them up to his; or they must cease intercourse. Here, then, young man is the turning point of your destiny.

When your heart first feels enchanted by the seducing influences of young men whom you know to be the cause of grief to their friends and of suspicion to their employers your danger is imminent. The fact, that you fail to discern the full enormity of their practices, is the sign that you are marked for destruction. The brilliant devices of gay sinners like sand, blinding your eyes to the consequences of sin, fit you to be their prey. Now, therefore, or never, is your time to escape. Break away at once from their snares, or you are undone. They will lead you from sin to sin until you are as highly accomplished in the arts of vice as the worst of them, and evil will blight in you the flower of innocence, which diffuses itself around youth as a sweet perfume.

Among the more finished seducers to vice are the gambler, the libertine and the sceptic. The gambler is usually a drunkard, not always I admit, but he needs the stimulus of alcoholic drinks to sustain the excitements of the card table. He has no honor, no regard for his fellow man; less merciful to his victims than the wolf to the bleeding and mangled lamb, yet, these are the men who will try to allure the young and unsuspecting youths of the land into their snare. They, like the serpent, will first charm you and then sting your precious lives away and not only that, they kill the immortal soul—the soul which is worth more to its individual possessor, than ten thousand worlds.

The libertine is like the drunkard, he is a man enslaved in chains of sin, self wrought and rivited by his own hands. The dignity of his manhood, the beauty of his face obliterated, his very aspect proclaims his deep degradation and heralds in advance his own shame. Now, what young man ever thinks for a moment, that he may become one of the characters above described? Reflect for a moment. Look around you, and remember that those very men so lost now to virtue and all that is honorable and happy, and perhaps men of the brightest talents, yet they are all cast away for the false pleasure—the misery of sin, for a guilty conscience can never bring happiness to any one. The conscience is one of the never dying faculties, as immortal as the soul itself. We shall look back on sin, with horror and remorse, and alas,too many when it will be too late.

Now my dear young friends let me beg of you to avoid all the snares of the devil and of wicked men, for they are many, and when they tempt you and endeavor to lead you estray, say get behind me Saten for I know that your ways are darkness and your devices numerous, and you desire the destruction of men's souls.

Let me say to the young and tender in conscience, avoid falling into the low and degrading habits, which are so prevalent in every place. There is nothing more common than to see men gathering in groups on the street corners, swearing and using the most disgusting language. One beautiful evening as I was passing along one of the streets of our romantic town, I saw men gathered in groups, and heard some of them swearing and blaspheming the name of God in the most wicked and horrible manner. I was shocked at this wickedness, and could not refrain from thinking what a blessing it was to these thoughtless creatures, that the great and good God did not answer their blasphemous prayers. Some of these men were fathers. What an example for boys—for young men.

Another great crime so common and degrading is the abominable practice of lying. It is to be regretted that so many indulge in it. Some for mere sport and others for gain, or to amuse their listeners. Every one feels and knows that it is disgraceful to lie, and consequently no one has altogether lost sight of the value of truth. Even if they should be destitute of it themselves, they value it in others. Hence no affront is reckoned so great as being called a liar. It is deemed disgraceful and so it should be, for this is the character of the Devil himself. He is a liar and the father of lies, and most fearfully do they resemble him who speak lies. They are of their father the devil and the works of their father they will do. Even the heathens valued truth. One of their wise men said that "if God should render himself visible to man, he would choose LIGHT for his body and TRUTH for his soul." The Romans built a temple which they dedicated to TRUTH which they called the sister of JUSTICE, and there their most solemn oaths were taken. Now, therefore, young friends, since you have so much greater opportunities of valuing what is right and good, educate yourselves, to always speak the truth, for "a liar is not to be believed even when he does chance to speak the truth." Cultivate, I beg of you, the precious talent of truthfulness, and you will soon learn to despise a falsehood in yourselves as well as in others. Sin is a reproach to any people, this is the language of the Bible and inasmuch as the young men of to-day are soon to take their places in the Legislative halls of the nation, how important it is, that they should be educated in the virtues that purify and ennoble men. The young men of America are the hope and glory of the nation—of freedom throughout the world. Will you, young men disappoint those hopes? Will you live, and work, and act not for the present; but for the future, the elevation of mankind—the salvation of the human race.

DR. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy is no Patent Medicine humbug gotten up to dupe the ignorant and credulous, nor is it represented as being "composed of rare and precious substances, brought from the four corners of the earth, carried seven times across the Great Desert of Saharah on the backs of fourteen camels,and brought across the Antlantic Ocean on two ships." It is a simple, mild, soothing, pleasant remedy, a perfect specific for Chronic Nasal Catarrh, "Cold in the Head," and kindred diseases. The proprietor, R. V. Pierce, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y., offers a reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh he cannot cure. For sale by most druggists everywhere. Sent by mail, postpaid, for sixty cents. Address the sole proprietor as above.

HOW TO SAVE DOCTOR'S BILLS?—An important question in these high tariff times, but easily answered. Go, or send and get one of Dr. Humphrey's Cases of Homeopathic Specifics. A full case with book of directions costs but $10, and with it you may prevent or treat successfully nine-tenths of all diseases occurring in your family,and save so much of Doctor's fees. Sold by F. P. Green, or sent free on receipt of the price Address "Humphrey's Specific Homeopathic Medicine Co.," 562, Broadway, N. Y.

DIPTHERIA CURED WITH LEMON JUICE.—The Health and Home, a very excellent health journal, says: "Some time ago, Dr. Revillout, in a paper presented to the French Academy of Medicine, asserted that lemon juice is one of the most efficacious medicines which can be applied to diptheria, and he relates, that when a dresser in the hospital, how his own life was saved by this timely appliance. He got three dozen lemons, and gargled his throat with the juice, swallowing a little at the same time, in order to act on the more deep-seated parts. The doctor has noted numerous cases of complete success obtained by this method of treatment."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the symptom seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attacks of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seemes to breed infection throughout the body, and then on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leycorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints; Torpidity, Congestion of Liver, and Jaundice, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are LANGUID and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Drunkenness and its Curses—No. 13.

BY REFORMATION.

Well, reader are you becoming tired of my continual appeals to you? Do you wish me to cease, and say no more on drunkenness, you say, as many do say that it is useless to spend time in writing or talking on this subject. That it is beyond our power to stay the stream of intemperance, while the law remains as it now is. Well you may think as you please, and say what you please. But I will continue my articles notwithstanding all you may say or do. And as regards the blood-stained law, through and by which drunkards are made, must and shall be overthrown. It has been heretofore observed, that the drunkard destroys his reason. In this manner he is unfitted for all profitable use of the means of grace, and for all attention to eternal life. Every call of mercy finds him stupid and regardless, to every threatening, his ears are deaf, to every promise his heart is insensible. The power of motives he knows not how to feel, and even their nature he cannot comprehend. To temptations, on the contrary, he is always exposed, alive, and awake. Around him, therefore, temptations throng, and every tempter fastens on him as his prey. Sin of course, becomes his business, and he ends in ever-endless misery.

Is not this a true picture of the unfortunate drunkard? You will not deny this whoever you may be. Oh say not again that it is useless to write or talk on this subject. We must both write and talk on this matter until this monster, the license law is forever banished from our land. Thus the drunkard holds out to his family, and to the world, the deplorable spectacle of a sinner, hardened beyond the common measure, exposing himself to sin of every kind, and in every degree, and yet voluntarily depriving himself of the usual means of repentance, hastening to perdition, and yet closing his eyes to the dangers of the precipice on which he stands, and to the terrors of the gulf, which opens beneath. Thus does he continue, and thus does he end, lost, forever lost. And notwithstanding all this, will you say it is useless to write or talk on this subject? Perhaps, reader, you have signed a petition for a license or may be you have granted a license, or in some way have lent your aid and support to the law, empowering man to traffic in intoxicating liquors, and hence your reason for saying it is useless to spend time in writing or talking on this topic, while the law remains as it is. If the friends of humanity remain silent, will not this demon of destruction, the license law remain as it is? Certainly it will. And how many, (even those who profess christianity) do you hear almost daily making use of just such arguments as above quoted. Now will this class of advocates please examine the ground upon which they stand? They are to be found among those who fill high places as a general thing. It is not necessary for me here to enumerate the different positions of trust and honor you hold on earth among men. I do not wish to wound the feelings of any one, let their standing among men be what it may. I will now call your attention to that portion of scripture, quoted in a former article, viz. Matt. XII, 31st and 32d v. Wherefore I say unto you, all manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men, but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men. And whosoever speaketh a word against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, neither in the world to come.

I am not writing for the purpose of making any display of self before the world. No not by any means, but for the purpose of awaking my fellow men to a sense of duty. Search the scriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life. What do we understand the Holy Ghost to be, is it not something of vast importance to the welfare of our souls, when to sin or blaspheme against it is eternal death? Holy Ghost, or Holy Spirit, the Divine Spirit, the third person in the Trinity, the sanctifier of souls. Thus it reads, and now what do we understand by this definition? Is it not the messenger of peace to the heart, that the soul is confirmed by God, and has a full assurance of its sanctification from all corruption, and therefore, is fully a member of that home prepared for all who accept Christ? What is it to sanctify? In a general sense to cleause, make pure, or holy—to seperate, set apart, or appoint to a holy, sacred or religious use. To prepare for divine service, and for partaking of holy things.—Ex. xix. To seperate, ordain and appoint to the work of redemption and the government of the church, &c.—John, x. Then the great office of the Holy Ghost, is simply the confirmation of God through Christ to the soul of its fitness for heaven. But this confirmation cannot be given unless Christ reigns fully in the heart. He being the medium through and by which we can approach God. All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men.

Paul obtained mercy who had been a blasphemer.—I Tim. 1 13; well may we say, who is a God like unto thee pardoning iniquity.—Michael 7, 18. Even words spoken against the son of man shall be forgiven, as theirs were who reviled him at his death, many of whom repented and found mercy. But here is an exception of the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost, which is here declared to be the only unpardonable sin. Now have we not investigated this subject sufficiently to give us, at least a glimmer of the nature and office of the Holy Ghost? And does it not become the sacred duty of all who (at least those who profess Christ) to meditate and carefully reflect upon this all important subject? For they who feel at ease on this matter, and quiet their conscience as being clear of this blasphemy, are in the greatest danger. We all with one common consent agree as to what blasphemy is. There can be no dispute on that ground. Then how do you inwardly feel who lend your aid and support to the license law? Do you not behold its desolation, the workings of which is misery and death to many, yea thousands upon thousands? And yet in the face of all this you profess to show us the way to Christ's kingdom.

Why did you who signed the petition for license, and the officials who granted the same, (spoken of in a former article) turn your eyes away from the funeral procession of him who died a drunkard? Why was it you could not stand and look upon the widowed wife and her innocent children? What caused your countenance to change? What caused the mighty convulsion within you? I do not wish to compound the answers. I merely wish to call your attention to this great declaration. Is not your situation one of commiseration and one much to be deplored? Are you not cutting off the means of grace to your souls? And for nothing more than that of worldly gain and worldly honor. And thus do you continue to sew the seeds of destruction broadcast amongst us—sending our friends, relatives, and our children down to an ever-endless gulf of despair. They profess that they know God; but in works they deny Him, being abominable and disobedient and unto every good work reprobate. Titus 1st 162—Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. And how do you who fill high places in the earth, perform your work? Ask conscience.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,
Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful Counter-Irritant or Derivative in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. F^{or} Send for a circular.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,
Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.
Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Wednesday Morning, June 14, 1871.

Nine Hours Enough For Horses.

If horses, writes Joseph Harris, are worked steadily from 7 A. M. until 11:30, and then from 1:30 to 6 P. M., say nine hours, they will accomplish more than if they were kept longer in the field and rested every few hours.

When I hear the horn blow about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and see the great stout young fellows leisurely walking to the house to eat their cookies, leaving their teams tied to the fence, or with their heads hanging down in the furrow, I think this may be a good country for men, but a hard one for horses. Because a horse cannot grumble and a man can, is no reason why the horse that does the hard work should not eat as often as the man who drives. By keeping on until 7 o'clock, instead of 6 o'clock, and spending half an hour at lunch, the horses are kept out an hour longer to do half an hour's work. Would it not be better to keep right along until 6 o'clock, and thus let the horses have an hour more time in the stable to eat before lying down to rest for the night?

There would then be plenty of time to clean the horses, and attend to many little things that are now neglected. And from the horses being in better condition more work would be accomplished. In haying and harvesting, of course we must often work as long as we can see, and the men, and horses too, should have lunch. But in plowing, harrowing, cultivating, and other ordinary farm work, there is no advantage in keeping the horses out so late, except occasionally in getting in the seed, etc., and when such is the case the horses need lunch as much as the man who drives them.

How Loaf Sugar is Made White.—The way in which sugar is made perfectly white, it is said, was found out in a curious manner. A hen that had gone through a clay mud-puddle, went with her muddy feet into a sugar house. It was discovered by some one that wherever the track went there the sugar was whitened. The result was that wet clay came to be used in refining sugar. The sugar is placed in earthern jars, shaped as the loaves. The large ends are upward, while the smaller end is left a hole. The jar is filled with sugar, the clay put over the top and kept wet. The moisture goes down through the hole end of the jar. This makes the sugar perfectly white.

Bots and Colic.—A farmer at Swan, O., writes the Cincinnati Gazette:—"For colic make a strong tea of the warts from horse's legs. For bots give strong sage tea. I never wait to argue the question whether it is bots or colic, or whether bots kill the horse or not, but, upon the symptoms, I make the teas and administer them, and in half an hour my horse is ready for work again. These have been my remedies for thirty years, and my father, who was an extensive horse-raiser, used them for fifty years, and neither of us ever lost a horse by colic or bots, and had many cases."

Applying Plaster to Corn.—A Kentucky correspondent asks the Rural New-Yorker:—"Do you recommend plaster for corn? If so, what is the most economical way to apply it?" We do recommend it for corn, especially on light, dry, sandy or loamy soils. We have used tons of it, applying it direct to the hill soon after the plants appear above ground, or immediately after the first hoeing. Take a pail full of it, walk between the rows, applying an ordinary handful to about four hills. A man can apply it to two rows at a time, (walking between them,) about as fast as he can walk.

Setting Hens.—It is a common mistake to set too many eggs under a hen. In summer a large hen may have thirteen; Cochin or Brahma, fifteen; but in early spring from ten to eleven are quite enough. We have not only considered how many chickens the hen can hatch, but how many she can cover when they are partly grown. It is far better to hatch fewer in number, and have them stronger and healthier, than to have a greater number of puny, sickly, little things, which will never grow to be large or healthy birds.

A Bucks County Farm.—One of the largest and most valuable farms in Bucks County is owned by Dr. Shenck. It is located near the mouth of the Neshaming creek and comprises six hundred acres of highly productive land, with country-seats, farm-houses and all the necessary out buildings.—The principal barn, which is quite an object of attraction, is furnished with a large clock, the bell can be heard many miles distant, and is a matter of great convenience to the neighborhood. —Germantown Telegraph.

Cure for Hog Cholera.—Mr. A. G. Ballard, of Sturgeon, Mo., informs the Columbus Herald that he has lost a large number of hogs from cholera, and after an unsuccessful trial of a great many remedies, has found pine tar to never fail of cure. He gives the tar in slop, about a tablespoonful to each hog. Its cure is rapid, complete and leaves no injurious effects behind.

HOME NEWS.

THE Brokerhoff House has been repaired and refitted. Open for guests.

WM. K. FOSTER, has been appointed Post Master at Centre Mills, vice S. P. Wolf, resigned.

LOSS.—W. D. Ross, Esq., of Pine Grove Mills, lost a fine horse, last week, by disease. The animal was valued at $250.

R. H. DUNCAN, Esq., our enterprising railroad man, is at present erecting a splendid hotel building at Spring Mills, this county.

THE total amount of money brought into Centre county annually, by the payment of pensions to her maimed soldiers is $90,000.

THE "Mountain Home" Lodge, No. 220 I. O. of G. T., of Pine Grove Mills, will hold a Picnic at that place on the 4th of July. We wish them a pleasant time.

JAMES REDPATH, of Boston, was the originator of the idea of an annual floral tribute to the memory of the dead soldiers of the Republic. He should be remembered.

MICHIGAN fine cut chewing tobacco—May Flower brand—a most superior quality and warranted genuine. Just received direct from the manufactory and for sale by James Welch Post Office building.

IT frequently happens that painters splash plate and other glass windows when they are painting the sills. Soda melted in very hot water and applied with a soft flannel, will entirely remove the paint.

SINCE the recent rains the crops present quite an improved appearance throughout the county. The grass crop however, will be short, also the Barley. The wheat looks quite promising, and so far the corn is doing well.

SPEER'S PORT GRAPE WINE.—This noted and excellent wine—samples of which can be tasted at all our druggists—we believe to be superior in every respect, and in all desirable qualities, medicinal not excepted, to pure and genuine imported Port, werth ten dollars a gallon. For sale by Druggists.

HARNESS &c.—Parties desiring fine harness—we would advise them to call upon Mr. James Schofield, next door to Harper Brothers Store. We recommend this establishment as we are well convinced that the work put up, is not to be excelled in quality, style or price. Mr. S. has just returned from New York where he has been working in one of the best Harness Manufactories in the country, thus he is, enabled from the knowledge acquired of the business, to render entire satisfaction.

TO FARMERS.—The farmers of Centre and adjoining counties having Wool will consult their interest by keeping it until they examine the large assortment of home-made woolen goods from the Williamsport Woolen Mills. Counterpanes, Coverlets of every description and design furnished at the lowest attainable cash price in exchange for wool. The gentlemanly agents, H. A. Scholl & Co., will wait upon the farmers of this and adjoining counties, and will guarantee satisfaction in every sale.

PATRIOTISM.—Truly Bellefonte has reason to boast of having, in her midst, the most patriotic citizen in the State or Nation, in the person of Maj. Jas. Armor, who not only served ninety days during the war of 1812, but also served eight months during the late rebellion. At the time the Major rendered his late service to the Government, he had reached the advanced age of 74 years, notwithstanding he occupied the position of a private, undergoing all the hardships incident to the life of a soldier. Major Armor is a staunch Republican, is yet in the enjoyment of good health, was the principal man in the late Decoration ceremonies at this place, and is even more active and energetic than many of our much younger citizens. If there is any other town, county or State that can say as much for one of her citizens, let them speak.

DANGER.—There is great danger of serious injury occurring to the many people who are obliged to pass up and down High street every day, over that bit of most extraordinary pavement commencing at Spring street and running thence down to the bridge across Spring Creek, right in front of Messrs. Zimmerman, Breckbill and Felty. If there is any one improvement needed in our town, it is the improvement of that sidewalk. As it is, it is horrible. It is the cause of more profanity in consequence of stubbing the toes against loose and tripping boards, than is the running of a mile to a railroad station and arriving there just in time to miss the train. Besides being actually dangerous, it is not very creditable to the property owners aforesaid. We think that a polite hint from our borough "Dads," in the shape of a resolve, might awaken their slumbering consciences in regard to their duties in the matter.

THE train from Tyrone on Tuesday morning brought the Philipsburg silver cornet band—one of the best in the State—which discoursed the most delightful music in front of the Bush House and afterwards played for the Odd Fellows' parade, in the afternoon. The playing of this band shows that the members have made music a study and that they understand their business. Why can't Bellefonte sustain such a band!

The following are the names of the gentlemen composing this splendid band:

LEADER—C. B. Sandford.
SECOND LEADER—Sol Schmidt.
MEMBERS—H. S. Jacobs, James Dumbleton, H. Hewitt, Wm. Sandfo d, O. B. Jones, C. A. Zeigler, John Sandford, J. C. Dunkle, John Bishop, Geo. E. Parker, A. J. McClelland, R. Southard, Jos. C. Hess and John Howe.

The leader of this band, Mr. C. B. Sandford, who honored us with a call at our sanctum, is one of the most accomplished musicians in the country, and is ably assisted by Mr. Sol. Schmidt. This band remained until Wednesday afternoon, during which time they serenaded a number of persons, among whom was our distinguished friend of the Republican, who made them a neat little speech after his usual felicitous style. There is a softness and harmony about the playing of this Philipsburg band that is not often heard, and we consider them among the first in the country. Our citizens were much pleased with them. We trust they will soon come again. —Democratic Watchman.

Of course "Joe" they will come again, when the campaign is opened. We must have them and cannot do without them. But as you say, they serenaded us and they did it well. We did make a little speech, something we hardly ever do. It is a wonder that we did not talk two hours, modestly speaking. No matter, however, we endorse all you say about this great band, and have only to add, that you fell far short of the truth. It is better in every respect than you give it credit for. We suppose the reason why you did not say more, is, because they did not serenade the Watchman office. Now "Joe" you ought not to be angry about this when you remember that the members of the Philipsburg Silver Cornet Band are all good looking men and men of the highest moral character, and therefore, choice of their company. This is why they serenaded the REPUBLICAN office, and it is also the reason why they did not serenade the Watchman office. They are good musicians—good and true men—and your story about them playing on the other side of the street is too thin. Of the Lock Haven Band we have made honorable mention in another column. Is it not passing strange, however, that this Band also failed to serenade the Watchman office? We hope both these excellent Bands will come again.

THERE is no hotel in the State, outside the cities, equal to the Brokerhoff House.

LARGE CATTLE.—Our friend Wm. Undercoffler has the reputation of being one of the best and most scientific farmers in Centre county. He lives on the farm owned by E. C. Humes, President of the First National Bank of Bellefonte. Mr. Humes is a good landlord and supplies his tenant with everything he needs. He has great faith in Mr. Undercoffler's judgment, because he has learned that Mr. Undercoffler's science and judgment make money for both of them. The long and the short of it is they work well together. Mutual confidence is a great thing in business or partnerships of any kind. Last fall Mr. Humes bought ten cattle. Put them under the care of his farmer. Mr. Undercoffler fed them, curried them, took care of them in every way, and a few weeks since they sold them to the enterprising butchers, Kurtz & Straub. These cattle when killed and dressed averaged 1408 pounds—the heaviest weighing 1720 pounds. Who can beat this. If any one can, let him report. And in the meantime we wish to say if better farmers than Wm. Undercoffler can be found, we desire the report sent in.

NEW FIRM.—Mr. Joseph Devling formerly of the firm of Forster & Devling and who recently purchased the interest of Maj. Forster, has now associated with himself in the business, Mr. J. H. Young of Philadelphia. The firm will therefore, hereafter, be Devling & Young. Mr. Devling is well known to all our citizens and Mr. Young who is a first class business man and a man of capital will soon, judging from his gentlemanly demeanor, win for himself golden honors in Centre county. This firm, from their knowledge of the business, possess advantages in purchasing in the city, which will enable them to sell 15 or 20 per cent cheaper than any other establishment in the county. Advertisement next week.

WOOLEN GOODS.—Some unscrupulous and unprincipled Wool agents are telling the farmers of this and adjoining counties, that H. A. Scholl & Co., have stopped trading and buying in wool. It gives us pleasure to say that H. A. Scholl & Co., were never better prepared to furnish their customers with goods than they are now. They have purchased for this years trade, new wagons and horses and a well selected stock of the best home-made goods from the Williamsport Woolen Mills, which they offer at live and let live prices.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.—It is worthy of note, that the committee of arrangements for the Odd Fellows dedication, H. B. Pontius, C. T. Garbrick, Dr. H. H. Rothrock, D. F. Fortney Esq., Noble Grand Sternberg and Vice Grand Galbraith, did everything in their power to make the affair pass off creditably. The universal satisfaction spoken of, is the result of good management. The entire membership are entitled to a full share] of credit for the active support given to the committee of arrangements. And especially are the lady members of the degree of Rebecca, and their lady friends entitled to the thanks of the order, for their labors in so beautifully decorating the Lodge room.

CALL at the Brokerhoff House for a goop square meal.

NEWS FROM OTHER COUNTIES.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY.

The Journal says that Wilbert, son of J. Lambertson had his right shoulder dislocated, on 1st inst., by falling from the P. C. R. R., coal wharf. Dr. Brumbaugh was called in and relieved the little sufferer, and he is doing well..... The Huntingdon Manufacturing Company have sold their Planing Mill, in West Huntingdon to Winchester McCarthey, of Mifflin county, and H. L. McCarthey and John A. Pollock, of Huntingdon, who will conduct the business hereafter. The Mill will be called The Franklin Planing Mill. Two of these gentlemen are excellent mechanics, and all are first class business men.....A little son of William Focht, of this place, died on Monday a week, of lock-jaw. The facts of the case, as near as we could learn them, appear to be as follows: A number of children were engaged in athletic sports. They were leaping over each other. Young Focht was caught by a colored boy, somewhat his senior, and thrown over his shoulder spraining his spine very severely which gave him great pain and terminated in lock-jaw, with which he suffered, for several days up to the time of his death. The injury was the result of the merest accident.....A correspondent of the Globe, writing from Petersburg, says; that a sad occurrence was recently brought to light in the little town of Petersburg, in this county. Mr. Samuel Wharton, while repairing his house in the latter part of last fall, made a bed of mortar, and after using what was necessary, left the remainder untouched; a neighbor some time since purchased it, and while engaged in removing it, discovered the remains of an infant child, enveloped in a newspaper. He removed it from the mortar bed, and with a carelessness almost unpardonable, allowed a large dog to devour it; for which he has been, and is strongly censured. Of course, owing to this last fact, but little can be ascertained of this fiendish deed. It had been placed there while the mortar was soft; probably six or eight months ago, and not getting any air, did not decompose. It is supposed to be of premature birth. The question is, who could have been monster enough to commit this inhuman crime....Dr. H. L. Brown, of Cassville had a stroke of apoplexy on the 1st inst., from which it is feared he will not recover....Fairman Flenner, an apprentice in the Monitor office, Huntingdon, was drowned in the Juniata river at the dam three and a half miles below that place, on Saturday week. He in company with two other employees of that office, started there to fish, and before returning home they concluded to take a bath. Flenner not being able to swim, climbed on the breast of the dam, from which he slipped, and was precipitated into the caldron below, his companions being unable to save him, and all efforts to recover the body failed until the next morning.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY.

We find, in the Journal of the 7th inst. the following items:—

Stigert, one of the prisoners who escaped from jail on Monday night, the 29th ult. was recaptured, near Glen Hope, on Friday last, and "re-jugged," on Saturday morning a bout daylight....The house of Mr. Jacob Barnes, of Decatur township, was struck by lightning on Monday, May 29th. The current did not ignite the building, though some parts of it are said to have made excellent kindling wood....The work on the new jail is now being pushed forward with more energy than at any previous time. In some places the wall is up to the height of the first floor, which is to be about six feet from the ground. The cells are to have floors of iron covered with wood.... Our County Commissioners, in offering a reward of $300 for the arrest of James Johnston, who has broke jail a couple of times, gave him a very flattering recommendation, viz:—Brown, dirty-looking hair one blue and one gray eye, thick lips, scar across upper lip, and dark complexion. That's right! go for him; he hasn't used the county officers very courteously; and we don't think it will be wholesome for him if he again gets in Sheriff Pie's hands.....The new M. E. Church, of Janesville, Clearfield county, will be dedicated to almighty God on Sunday the 2d day of July.

For the REPUBLICAN.

W. W. BROWN:—One of the piers under the bridge across Spring creek at High street, has fallen in, rendering a portion of the bridge unsafe for crossing with heavy teams. Council should give this matter their immediate attention, or they will have heavy damages to pay.

About a year since a correspondent of your paper, suggested the propriety of tearing out the old bridge and replacing it with a new Iron Bridge of a single span. This proposition seemed at that time to be premature, but now looks to me as the right time, and as a citizen of the Borough and a tax payer, I would urge on Council the proposition of speedy action in the matter, an Iron Bridge with roadway 48 feet wide, and foot walks 8 feet wide on each side of the bridge, can be built, at a cost of not exceeding five thousand dollars. This bridge would add greatly to the appearance of High street, render damage by floods to the valuable property near to the creek impossible, and require nothing for repairs for years to come. For me I say to Council, build the Iron Bridge.

TAX PAYER.

PLEASURE TRIP.—Past Grand Sire, James B. Nicholson, Past Grand Master, John B. Springer, who attended the dedication of the Odd Fellows Hall on Tuesday the 6th inst., also Past Grand Munson, and Noble Grand Wigerman, of Philipsburg, accompanied by the following members of the committee of reception and entertainment of the Grand officers, Past District Deputy Roland Curtin, District Deputy Grand Master, J. S. Barnhart, Noble Grand Sternberg and Secretary Pontius, took a pleasure trip to the top of Nittany Mountain. The visitors returned, pleased with the excursion, little thinking before their visit, that in the midst of the mountains of Pennsylvania, the God of nature had placed such magnificent scenery. The view from the summit was thought to be one of the finest in America.

AT a special meeting of the Directors of the Bellefonte & Snowshoe R. R. Co. held June 9th, 1871. The following Resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we are ready to carry out, in good faith, the arrangements made by the respective Committees of the L. C. & S. C. R. R. Co., and the B. & S. S. R. R. Co., in relation to building the line from Bellefonte to the Northwest end of Nittany Mountain, in time to connect with the L. C. & S. C. R. R., whenever we are fully satisfied that the Road from Lewisburg to that place shall be completed.

DAN'L RHOADS, Sec'y Pro. Tem.

FINE HORSE.—Robert Galbraith of Harris township has a fine Morgan colt, four years old, for which he has been offered the handsome sum of $400. The horse is a perfect beauty and can, we are informed trot his mile in 2.30. The lovers of beautiful and fast horses should call and see this elegant young horse.

For the REPUBLICAN.

CENTRE COUNTY S. S. CONVENTION.—At the hour appointed, viz: 10½ o'clock June 6th, the Convention was called to order by Gen. James A. Beaver, Pres't., and the exercises were opened with the usual Devotional services, when Rev. J. Mullin of the M. E. Church, Bellefonte, introduced Rev. Langley, of Lock Haven, to address the Convention on the subject of the proper education of the young. A large, respectable and appreciative audience was assembled on the occasion. The speaker, it seems, immediately rivited the attention of his hearers to the subject, by proceeding in a calm, cool and deliberative narrative style, gradually warming up in the subject as he advanced with his theme, presenting the Sabbath School as the nursery of the church, making most eloquent appeals to the Sunday School workers in behalf of the children with a a view to their religious instruction, in such a forcible and pathetic manner as to draw tears from the audience, it would be vain to attempt here to give the full effect of this timely address, which is only know to those who were present and saw the speaker, heard the address and felt its soul-inspiring influences which were felt during the entire session of the Convention. Suffice it to say, "it was good to be there." Convention met again in the afternoon at 2 P. M., and after the usual devotional exercises, H. Y. Stitzer was, on motion, elected Secretary pro. tem. A business Committee was also appointed as follows, to wit: Ira C. Mitchell, Esq., Rev. R. Crittenden, J. E. Thomas, Rev. J. W. Cleaver and H. L Harvey, who reported the following topic for discussion, viz: "The proper method of conducting schools and classes," which was opened by James A. Beaver, followed by S. S. Lyon, Ira C. Michell, Esq., Rev's Buckley and Cleaver who suggested generally that the officers and teachers should be prompt and regular in attendance and imbued with the spirit of Christianity, that the Superintendent should have a controlling influence over the school, and all deprecating long prayers, long hymns and long speeches in the conducting of schools. The Convention then, out of respect to Mrs. W. T. Wylie, adjourned to attend her funeral services which took place at the Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock, where a large and sorrow stricken audience had assembled previous to the departure of the family and friends of the deceased to her former home.

Convention assembled again at 7½ P. M., and after the usual exercises, the question, "The Bible—its place in the Sabbath School and how to use it," was opened by Jas. A. Beaver, who showed very forcibly that the Bible is the book, and should occupy the place in the Sabbath School and should be taught in the broad principle of Christianity and not on the one idea and sectarian principle, but making it the source and guide to all good, and therefore should be taught with great reverence and respect, followed by Rev's Wolf and Buckley, Ira C. Mitchell and Jno. P. Packer, of Clinton county, who concurred on the views above stated, and severally paid glowing tributes to the truths taught in the Bible. The discussion was then closed by singing that beautiful and appropriate song, "We'll not Give up the Bible." Rev. R. Crittenden then proceeded to discuss the subject, "How shall we reach grown up people," and in a very interesting manner showed, by statistics, that those schools that had the most adult members brought the most communicants into the church, thereby proving the old adage, "From the Sabbath School into the church," and very earnestly and effectively urged that every effort be put forth to get the adults to attend Sabbath School, followed by Jacob R. Hughes, Rev's. W. Ganoe and J. P. Hughes, and John P. Packer, concurring in the suggestion put forth by the first speaker.

Wednesday morning, 9 A. M., opened with devotional exercises continuing 30 minutes, after which Rev. Crittenden made a statistical report of the Sabbath Schools of Centre county, which will be seen more fully when published in the county papers, and was followed by special reports and remarks by delegates representing the different townships, which reports were fruitful of suggestions of the various difficulties and drawbacks in the different schools. One great want is, Sabbath school teachers; another, attendance and how to procure the same; another continuing the school during the year, and still another finds difficulties attending a proper distribution of Library and raising funds to keep up supply of same, &c. The next subject. "Missionary Cause," by Gen. Beaver, which was listened to with marked attention, after which the question "our Missionary Work" was opened by Rev. J. P. Hughes, and the time alloted to the same was very judiciously and instructively consumed by Rev's Lamb and Crittenden, Prof. Leisher, and Dr. Blair.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

J. T. Williams in the chair; opened with singing and prayer. The business Committee then reported the following as the officers of the Convention for the ensuing year, which report was, by a unanimous vote, concurred in by the Convention, viz:

On motion of H. L. Harvey, five delegates were elected to attend State Sunday School Convention at Allentown, commencing June 13th to wit. Rev. R. Crittenden, Gen. Jas. A. Beaver, H. L. Harvey, Richard Conley and H. Y. Stitzer. A lesson was then given on the Blackboard by Prof. G. W. Leisher, by which he clearly, and forcibly established the utility and advantages of blackboard exercises in the Sabbath school, by a practical demonstration. 3 o'clock the hour for a childrens meeting, had then arrived, when Rev. E. W. Lamb was first called upon to address them, to which he responded greatly to the edification of the children, followed by Rev. W. V. Ganoe, who gave the children a lesson on the blackboard by drawing the outline of a large heart and asking the children to fill up the same, with the names of the different vices and sins that enter into the heart, to which the children responded promptly and correctly, which together with the remarks of the speaker, made it quite interesting both to children and adults. Rev. R. Crittenden then had some scriptural exercises prepared, and recited by the children, who it seems is quite a favorite with the children so that they cheerfully and promptly responded to all he desired them to do, and could not help saying, God bless brother Crittenden for his untiring labor in behalf of those dear children. Rev. D. M. Wolf, by a unanimous vote of the children, then addressed them on the subject of the Shepherd, by questions and answers, in such a pleasant and well directed way, that we wished it would have continued longer; but as all meetings, no matter how pleasant or entertaining must have an end, so this was concluded by the whole audience rising and repeating the Lord's Prayer; after which a recess of ten minutes was announced, when quite a social time ensued. After which, the question "Can we adopt a uniform lesson in our Sabbath Schools?" Opened by Mr. E. J. Ross, who argued with much earnestness in favor of the uniform system: 1st. Because it facilitates and simplifies the exercises of the schools. 2nd. It concentrates all the Scriptural intelligence in one subject, at the same time, therefore, making the study of the Scriptures more thorough. Followed by D. F. Fortney, Esq., Charles Cook and James A. Beaver, who concurred for the same and various other reasons, and W. F. Thompson, David Weaver, Prof. Hamilton and Henry Duck, who seemed to take a different view, on the ground that it was not practicable in all schools, one reason being that some teachers were not so apt to teach as others, consequently, would be through with their lessons and have nothing to do while the other classes would still be reciting, and various other reasons.

EVENING SESSION, 7½ O'CLOCK.

Rev. —— Buckley, in the chair. After Singing and Prayer, Prof. J. E. Thomas spoke on the question, viz: "The temperance work in the Sabbath School, how shall it be done?" recommending that stated temperance meetings be held by the school, at which children should be especially taught to abhor and shun the vice; followed by Ira C. Mitchell, Rev. E. W. Lamb, Rev. W. V. Ganoe, H. L. Harvey and Jno. I. Rankin. The following questions were then discussed, viz: What special preparation does the Sunday School teacher need? and "I have a class of four girls from 13 to 16 years of age, how shall I gain their attention to the lesson?" Prof. J. P. Hughes, suggested, 1st. That the teacher should thoroughly understand the lesson by previous preparation. 2nd. The teacher should be earnestly and zealously engaged in the work with a view to the spiritual wants of the pupil. Rev. George A. Peltz, President of the State Sunday School Association, having arrived was introduced to the convention and requested to answer certain questions which he did in such a pleasant and intelligent manner, as to infuse, as it were, new life and animation into the convention.

THURSDAY MORNING.

J. E. Thomas, in the chair. Opened with devotional exercises for 30 minutes. Col. James F. Weaver, Supt. then proceeded to give his experience, by request of chairman, and discussed the various duties incumbent as superintendents; followed by Prof. J. E. Thomas, Jas. A. Beaver, W. L. Harvey, David Weaver, each briefly reciting their experience as superintendents. Rev. Geo. A. Peltz, choosing for his theme, "Teachers meetings, what was to be done at these meetings, and the tim meeting?" 1st. The lesson should be prepared at these meetings, combined with a little sociability. 2nd. To meet as early in the week as possible, and at such place as is most convenient to all. 3rd. Let there be devotional and christian culture and specific preparation of lesson. Closing with remarks by the delegates concerning the address. The questions were then read and answered by Rev. George A. Peltz, in his usual happy style.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Rev. Buckley in the chair; ope with singing and prayer, after which the question "How shall infant classes be conducted?" was opened by H. Y. Stitzer, followed by Rev's. Roberts, Cleaver, and Crittenden, all concurring that infants should be taught, orally, scriptural lessons, by relating to them Bible stories and the history of Christ, interspersed with singing, and teaching short and suitable prayers, &c., instead of the spelling book, Alphabet, &c. A teachers meeting was then conducted by Rev Peltz, lesson, Math. 24th c. and 24th v. The parable of the tares. Questions were then again answered by Rev. Peltz.

Management of the Library, by Col. J. F. Weaver, who advocated the system known as the Catalogue System, and explained the working of the same minutely and with satisfaction, followed by James A. Beaver, H. L. Harvey and R. Crittenden.

On motion, the question of holding District Institutes, as to how many, and where to be held, was referred to the Executive Committee. On motion, Millesburg was the place selected as the place of the next annual meeting of the Convention.

EVENING SESSION.

Prof. Roberts in the chair; opened with singing and prayer. Address of fifteen minutes by Rev. N. B. Nesbit, of Lock Haven, on the important work of the teacher. The speaker handled the subject in such a manner and with such earnestness, as to properly impress the audience with the great responsibilities imposed upon the teachers and instructors of the youth

An address by Rev. Cleaver, on the early conversion of children, was listened to with marked attention.

Gen. Beaver made a few remarks concerning the Sunday School work in our county, showing from what a small beginning, originated the work in this county, and stating that Centre county is one of banner the counties in the State for efficiency in the work.

Closing address, Sunday School work of our State, with suggestions for improvements, by Rev. Peltz, making a strong plea for an effective organization and infusing life and enthusiasm into the work, holding fast to what we have and reaching all around for more.

Adjourned after singing Doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow, &c."

H. Y. STITZER, Sec't'y.
